

Jack began calling in 1981. He attended a caller school in Tennessee which taught him the mechanics of square dance calling. He has continued to hone his ability to call, and thoroughly enjoys showing the dancers a good time. He credits the dancers for helping him to make his calling a success. He has a long time relationship with four clubs, one of which was a kids square dance club. Anyone dancing to Jack quickly realizes how much he loves to call and finds his love of the activity infectious.-

Cheryl and Geof took their first round dance class in the fall of 2000 and fell in love with this activity. Though teachers encouraged Cheryl to start cueing, it wasn't until the sudden death of one of their instructors in 2013, that she began cueing, and teaching with Geof. Near where they lived in Oregon, they taught and cued at all levels for several different round dance and square dance clubs, as well as the state summer and winter festivals, and this is where they started writing choreography. Cheryl has also cued at events in several other states and at ICBD
